

Dove Ridge Pet Policy Agreement

At Dove Ridge we understand that fur babies are part of your family, and it is important to include them in your wedding celebration. We want to ensure that all our guests, fur babies included, are comfortable and happy on the wedding day. If you will be including a fur baby in your ceremony, please follow these guidelines:

- Fur Babies must always be accompanied by someone, and they are responsible for picking up after them. At no time should a fur baby be unattended unless they are crated. Additional cleaning fees will be charged to the patron if our cleaning company must pick up any gifts your fur babies have left behind.
- We need to keep our suites free of animal fur, so while the fur babies are allowed in the venue, they are not allowed in the suites where soft surfaces are present.
- Even the friendliest pet can become overwhelmed with the presence of a large number of people in a foreign environment, we highly recommend having someone bring your fur baby just before the ceremony and leave with them after all the photos are completed. That way, both you and your fur baby can enjoy your evening. At no time can they be crated and left locked in the suites or a car.
- The patron is ultimately responsible for the actions of their fur baby, should they become injured, or injure another wedding guest, the owner acknowledges that they are the responsible party.
